

A WARM WINTER FOR SPRING

While on patrol in old rebel area, Spring tells his men to watch rooftops for snipers.

It's been a warm winter for Sgt. William Spring.

In fact, the 82nd Airborne soldier, a native of Philadelphia, says this is the first winter of his 24 years that he hasn't seen snow.

Spring is on duty in Santo Domingo where he commands a squad of five other airborne infantrymen pulling patrol duty in the sometimes quiet, sometimes turbulent streets of the Dominican Republic city as part of the inter-American peace force.

They patrol an area known as Ciudad Nueva, the rebel stronghold during last year's short revolution and still a hot spot for sniper fire.

During patrols down the narrow streets, past walls on which are scrawled "Yankee Go Home," he's been shot at, spat upon, had garbage thrown at him and rocks bounced off his helmet.

The throwing has grown less frequent now, he says, but the Dominicans still hurl verbal insults at the patrols.

Days off are few for Spring and his men. When they do come they usually stretch out on a beach under the warm Caribbean sun.

The big day for Spring comes in July when he will return to his wife and family at the 82nd's home base, Fort Bragg, N. C.

At the end of the day he sits in an old chair to write a letter to his wife.

Spring checks a map of the patrol area with his platoon commander.

In downtown Santo Domingo the patrol passes "Yankee Go Home" sign scrawled on wall at right

Rolling surf of the Caribbean Sea provides a playground for Spring and a dog during one of the rare but welcome periods of relaxation.

USS Topeka Provides Both Butter, Guns

By RICHARD MERRON
ABOARD Cruiser Topeka off South Viet Nam (AP) — The venerable U.S. cruiser Topeka provides troops of the 101st Airborne Division with both guns and butter.

For some time now, the Topeka, commissioned in 1913, has been firing barrages from its six-inch naval rifles in support of 101st operations in the Tuy Hoa area. And the sailors' thoughts were with the 101st troops who endure searing heat while wading through rice paddies and climbing steep hills in search of the Viet Cong.

Although the Navy men work long hours, they realize that they have it relatively easy compared to the infantrymen. So Rear Adm. D. C. Irvine, commander of cruisers and destroyers in the 7th Fleet, conceived the idea of making his ships floating rest and recreation centers for the foot soldiers.

Daily, 101st helicopters fly enlisted men from combat to the Topeka or the cruiser Canberra.

As Pfc. Aaron Hicks of Albany, Ga., put it: "The ship might seem like an old bucket to those sailors but to us it's heaven."

The soldiers, no matter what their rank, eat in the chief petty officers' mess. As anyone who has spent much time aboard ship knows, the chiefs have a way of coming up with the best.

The soldiers are bearded, dirty and tired when they get off the helicopters.

They are given a friendly greeting by their comrades in the Navy, taken to air-conditioned rooms and to the showers. A shower and clean clothes can be an incredible luxury to a man weary from infantry duty.

Dear Helen: This is a problem almost everybody has sometime. How do you get rid of a pest without being rude? This girl is okay but not my type. She keeps asking me to parties and hanging on to me in the halls at school, and no matter where I am she shows up. She tells everybody I'm going to be her boyfriend someday, and it's got to be a big joke. I do everything but tell her to "Get lost," like ignoring her, refusing invitations, etc., but she is a real leech.

Girls have this trouble with boys too. It's not that we hate em but they won't get the message. So what comes next? — Bugged But Still Polite

Dear Bugged: Sometimes total frankness is the only way. Tell this girl you're flattered (her interest is a compliment, you know), but also worried because she is wasting her time: As far as you're concerned, the work is "No-hope," but "that's only one man's opinion — so give some other guy a chance."

I all this doesn't work, she's so hard-shelled that a flat "Get lost!" won't crush her.

P.S. Dear Readers: This question comes up often. I any of you (either boys or girls) have workable ways to discourage admirers you don't, especially admire, I'd like to hear them. And, yes, I KNOW you should be friendly with everyone, but sometimes that results in being monopolized by a bore.

In a later column, we'll discuss how not to be a bore. I'll welcome ideas here, too — H.

Confusing

Dear Helen: I'm 13. My mother will allow me to go steady, but she won't let me go out with a boy. And she won't let him come to see me. He can't even walk me home. Some of the boys I've liked say they would like to meet her. But she doesn't want to meet them.

I don't believe in getting serious about one boy, but I AM going steady with this nice boy, and I wish my mother would let me date him. — Troubled

Dear Troubled: I'm with your mother on the dating rule, but I do think she should relax a bit about letting your "steady" walk you home or come to see you.

(In case adult readers wonder how a 13-year-old can "go steady" and remain dateless —

People Who Pop Out Shouldn't Wear Peep Holes

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — The bare trend has been creeping up on us season by season. But now that Paris launched its spring fashions with the nude look in full swing, this seems like a good time to stop, look and listen before we buy the copies that will soon be here.

The transparent evening gowns shown in Paris and worn over bra and briefs or body stockings aren't likely to be volume sellers here (or there, either, for that matter). But bare midriffs, deep side cut-outs and nonexistent backs may well take over from bargain rack to couture salon. We can only hope that the wise girl who knows her limitations is legion.

The side cut-outs which bare a good part of the bosom in profile can only be attractive on those not handsomely endowed. Only the flattest midriff can stand exposure and not be an ugly protrusion. And a back that isn't trim and slim should remain under flattering wraps.

It's difficult to dress in what is publicized as "in" fashion today unless you have the figure of a page boy or a sub-teen. And it's too bad that styles just as current and easier for most women to wear aren't given the same attention and reported as scrupulously as are the shockers. For these do exist.

Because pretty clothes that don't bring on gasps are only mentioned casually, in many women believe that to be fashionable they must cram over-

TIMELY QUOTES

The poor guy had a pretty hard time between the hawks and the doves. I don't know which gave him the hardest time. The hawks were unhappy, the doves were unhappy and Rusk was unhappy. —Sen. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, commenting on the testimony of Secretary of State Rusk on Viet Nam before the Foreign Relations Committee.

I have absolutely no interest whatsoever in running for president... none at all. —Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York.

If a woman does not know what she thinks until she hears what she has to say, a writer does not know what he understands until he sees it written out in a story. —Author Nancy Packer.

Mixing periods of furniture can be fun. It also can be horrendous.

Since eclectic refers to selecting what appears to be best in various styles, it seemed wise to turn to a professional for advice. Decorator Jay Dorf was ideal since he turned his maisonette (once an apartment rental office) on Sutton Place South in New York City into a perfect showcase for mixed periods. Dorf uses Louis XVIII, XVI and XV, 18th century American colonial furnishings, plus modern touches of steel and leather dining chairs to create his special world.

Dorf apparently is happy with the stress on 17th, 18th and 19th century styles introduced at the recent Home Furnishings Mart in Chicago.

According to Dorf, "People today want a bit of the past to warm up cold contemporary rooms." He adds that "traditional rooms, too, need a modern touch. It is possible to combine the best of the past with today."

To do this he suggests a homemaker choose and mix furniture, fabrics and rugs, by line, form and color rather than by countries and time for a better feeling. He explained that the Hepplewhite form blends well with Directoire French, as an example. Furniture of modern design based upon a classic theme (seen in most market lines) also mixes well with furniture from another era.

Clutter is an important element of the current decorating trend. It, too, is difficult to handle well. Dorf suggests the use of natural forms—birds, animals or human from the 18th, 19th or 20th century—in ceramic (relatively expensive), wood or metal sculpture.

Another trick is to put accessories to a definite purpose, such as ashtrays or cigarette holders and keep tables free of small lamps.

"Everything on a table should be seen in all dimensions. Don't crowd objects," Dorf explains, "or you lose any effect you want to make."

Realizing that most family budgets allow only an addition of an occasional piece, Dorf suggests the use of a modern painting in a traditional room or a traditional painting in a contemporary setting as a starter.

This is not as expensive or as difficult as it sounds. There are inexpensive prints of major works covering all eras. When well-framed and placed properly they serve as perfect transitions in home decorating.

weight figures into little-girl dresses and heavy legs into eye-catching lace stockings. And now they're sure to pop out in large bumps here and there in the new cut-out fashions.

Anyone hell-bent to wear what's new no matter how it looks on her might be interested in what a cross-section of men think about the new fashions from lace hose to nudity.

This subject came up at a large party where the men ranged from portly corporation presidents to college students in their 20s.

Paris Fashions Resist Spots

Zeipel fabric fluoridizer has been used for the first time this season by the Paris couturiers to protect their fabrics from spotting. Philippe Venet has used it to retain the fresh appearance of this strawberry pink, double-breasted coat (left) with narrow standaway collar and flared skirt. Madeleine de Rauch uses the process to protect the reversible pale beige and white slim-fitting coat (right). A matching short-sleeved, body-skimming sheath completes the ensemble. Orlon and wool are combined in the fabric used for both fashions.

The young man explained that he liked low heels, textured stockings and short skirts because they made a fellow feel less in awe of a girl. He asks his girls to look natural, not all dressed up. But on the bare look (pop's peep holes) he agreed with pater.

"At a party when a piece of your date sticks out every here and there it will be embarrassing." But he's not all anti-nudity. Bikinis, he likes.

Each man was, of course, considering his contemporaries. Naturally, the college kid likes young styles on his dates. They have young figures.

The older men were seeing their own wives in clothes that should be worn only by their daughters. And it seems to me that when any man objects to an expanse of feminine pulchritude showing, the wrong woman is showing it.

Before you dip disastrously into the clothing budget remember that you can be in fashion without looking ridiculous. Much that is new will be right for you. But not everything. Good taste should tell you what to avoid.

His son (early 20s) spoke up. "Don't mind dad," he said. "He's out dated. He even thinks colored fancy stockings have a floozy look."

"Well, they do," pop interrupted. "And the thick ones make every girl's legs look heavy. I don't like fat legs and I'm not too old to look yet."

TUES-WED SAENGER

Her hands tied and almost helpless with terror, lovely Samantha Eggar is dragged back to her cell—prison by kidnapper Terence Stamp in this scene from William Wyler's "The Collector," new Columbia Pictures release in Techni-color based on the John Fowles novel.

Starts Thurs. at Saenger

MAN TO MAN—Chuck Connors and Kevin Corcoran exchange pioneer wit and wisdom in Walt Disney's frontier adventure, "Old Yeller." The Technicolor feature also stars Dorothy McGuire, Fess Parker, Tommy Kirk, Kevin Corcoran and Jeff York.

HEAR THESE WORDS

Worship In Church Every Week

"I Shall Keep This Lent"

"LENT" means springtime. It is an old Latin word which means a forty day fasting period next before Easter. It begins with Ash Wednesday and continues till Easter; exclusive of Sundays.

It is a time for the conditioning of our soil . . . a time for our Souls to become penitent. It simply means that it is spading up time, the season for planting seeds and for setting blooming trees.

In the realm of the spirit it is a call to get ready for the season of beauty and goodness.

Who amongst us is satisfied with what he is or what he has been? Then let us qualify for the Lenten Season. Let us clear away the rubbish of last year's crop, cut under the old stalks. May we learn from our Lord to give ourselves to good conditioning during Lent. The miracle of Lent is genuine repentance which leads to Newness of Life. A Saintly Keeper of Lent said it well when he spoke the words, "I shall keep this Lent, and hope to refresh my Soul." Amen

You In The Church
The Church In You
form a combination
for good. Every man, woman and child needs
the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us
support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

WIN AT BRIDGE
South Ready For Anything
By JACORY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
A letter from Madison, Wis., reads:
"I opened the king of hearts and continued with the queen after South allowed me to hold the first trick. South took that trick in dummy and, after stewing around awhile, led a club. My partner played the deuce and South took the trick with the jack. Then South cashed the king of clubs. My partner dropped the queen and after some more study South led his last club and finessed against my ten. Then he discarded one spade on the ace of clubs and wound up losing only three tricks. I congratulated South on his play but my partner blamed me for not either opening a spade or shifting to that suit at trick two. What's your opinion?"
South's play was excellent. He must have reasoned that East held 10 cards in diamonds and spades for his bids. It also turns out that West's trump leads were rather helpful in that when South finessed against the ten of clubs he was not risking a two-trick set.
That does not mean any criticism at all of the initial trump lead. In fact we know of no expert who would not have opened the king of hearts. Hearts had been bid and raised and West could not be expected to know that dummy would have no ruffing power at all. An expert probably should have shifted to the spade at trick two but we have a hunch that South would have been equal to the occasion and played the clubs exactly the same way.
Even an initial spade play might not have beaten the hand. South could cash dummy's ace of trumps and then play clubs to get the same spade discard.

♥ ♣ CARD SENSE ♠ ♣
Q - The bidding has been:
West North East South
1 ♠ Pass
You, South, hold:
♠ K J 5 4 ♣ Q 10 6 5 4 ♠ K J 9
What do you respond?
A - One no-trump. You have 10 points but your diamond suit is not good.
TODAY'S QUESTION
You bid one no-trump and your partner rebids two spades. What do you do now?
Answer Monday
Khrushchev was apprehensive with and seeking to win friends and influence nations. His successors have taken a stricter attitude
The Soviet Union has provided about $10 billion a worth of aid to other Communist countries. Beginning in 1947, it started providing long-term, low interest credits and some grants to non-Communist underdeveloped countries. Best available Western figures put the total at more than $42 billion in promised credits and grants through 1961 but only about $15 billion actually spent
A comparable U.S. figure is difficult to obtain. One tabulation which leaves out the massive American food assistance puts U.S. economic aid spending for 1954-64 at $21.5 billion. Other tabulations run as high as $67 billion
To the limited extent that foreigners can determine Soviet public opinion, the Russian masses have seemed to be opposed to largesse for developing countries while the Soviet Union needs so much development
Khrushchev usually ignored this attitude. His successors followed
Soviet spokesmen and the press often said the countries which had been helped by Soviet aid were grateful and that the aid was well used
Havana was the last Latin American city to be taken by the Communists

Only Tax Cut Kept Living Costs Down
By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) - Don't attach too much significance, experts warn us, to January's pause in the steady rise of living costs.
There were such pauses now and then in 1965, they point out, but the year-long trend was upward.
January would have been up a little, too - about one-tenth of 1 per cent - except for the New Year's cut in excise taxes on phone bills and cars. The unpleasant behavior of meat prices alone is likely to push living cost up for some months to come. And bad news from Viet Nam could make far worse the price creep.
All right, we won't flip. Inflation is a work of art, yet we know. But we're all entitled to take some satisfaction from the January pause anyway because it means that inflation hasn't really begun yet, either.
After December's four-tenths of 1 per cent rise in living costs - the fourth consecutive monthly jump and the biggest for any December since 1950, when Red China entered the Korean War, no one could be sure that the price creep wasn't breaking into a gallop.
It looked to many as if "inflation psychology" was taking hold. That's a type of behavior which is really speculation. It impels housewives to overload the shopping cart with sugar. It causes manufacturers to order twice as much copper as their production schedules warrant. It leads retailers to mark their price tags up so they'll be plenty high in case of a price freeze.
If those things were happening, President Johnson almost surely would have to call, sooner or later, for a stiff but temporary general tax increase to siphon more money out of the pockets of consumers and businesses.
Well, January proved - to the satisfaction of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, at least - that the economy is "safely below the threshold of inflationary phenomena - that we still have substantial price stability."
Those were the words of Bureau Commissioner Arthur Ross. He told reporters that if the "phenomena" - hedge-buying, inventory - loading and hoarding - had been prevalent, the January leveling-off of living costs could not have occurred.
Most particularly, it could not have occurred in a month when unemployment dropped to a nine-year low of 4 per cent. Price pressures tend to rise when almost the whole labor force is drawing paychecks.
In fact, no industrial country has been able to prevent a price climb under conditions of high employment. This country's increase of about 1.5 per cent a year have been modest compared with Western Europe's.
"If those phenomena do not occur," Ross said, "the situation is not dangerous even with an annual price increase of 2 per cent or more."
Ross and other economists agree that even a considerably stepped-up effort in Viet Nam should have far less impact than did the Korean War on the much smaller U.S. economy of 15 years ago.
So, the inflationary phenomena need not happen. They apparently haven't happened yet. Is it too much to hope that, with wise government policy and private self-restraint, they may not happen at all?
James Marlow, who usually writes this column, is ill.

THE BORN LOSER

By ART SANSON

Buccaneers were not the same as pirates. They had more in common with the so-called privateers. Buccaneers were English, French and Dutch sea adventurers who haunted the Caribbean and the Pacific seaboard of South America during the second half of the 17th century. They were hostile to the Spanish, who then regarded the seas as their monopoly. The word is derived from the French boucan, a grill for smoking dried meat, for use in ships at sea.

Literacy in Economics

If you were to ask a class of high school seniors a series of questions designed to test their thinking about economic aspects of the society in which they live, chances are that unless they were pupils in a big school in a big city they would flunk the test with a score of fewer than 40% correct answers.

What's worse, their teachers would do very little better. At least, that's the result of nationwide examinations with a standard test of 50 multiple-choice questions such as the following:

"The most general cause of low individual incomes in the United States: A. (Lack of valuable productive services to sell; B.) Unwillingness to work; C.) Automation; D.) Discrimination against non-union employees."

Correct answer is "A" but on the record, many taking the test would select another choice.

Even adults in varied occupations and professions failed to achieve more than mediocre scores although the questions generally were simple and required but a limited amount of thought.

Are we really a nation of "economic illiterates?" Apparently we are.

This situation points up urgency of the program of economic education now being developed with so much promise in Arkansas by the State Department of Education and the similar programs of other states, many of them just getting started.

Relatively few high schools in Arkansas offer courses in economics and when they do the subject is an elective. Such scanty acquaintance with economics as the average high school pupil in this and other states may gain is usually in "social studies" classes in which controversial questions are skinned.

A major reason for the failure of our public schools and college to turn out graduates better informed in economic matters has been lack of recognition that this educational process was essential to the maintenance of a republic in an industrial-urban society of rapidly increasing complexity.

As of today, an Arkansas high school teacher of social studies need not have had one hour of economics in college. For that matter, only 24 states do require that such teachers have some background in economics. Happily, he direction is toward improvement in this respect.

Economics is of course not an exact science; it often seems more an occult art such as crystal-ball gazing. And, like the old round vs. flat world controversy, it can be taught either way. Yet any stimulation of thought on the subject and development of familiarity with its terms on the part of our youngsters cannot fail to be of good effect. For the survival of a free society will depend on how they think — or whether they think at all — about how it subsists as a people.

The business and industrial leadership of Arkansas is giving solid support, manpower and financial, to the Arkansas State Council on Economic Education. To their credit, so are the labor unions. Although views may differ sharply, both management and labor recognize this as an undertaking of the highest priority.

Three local Negro youths, all 17, have been charged on about 10 counts of burglary and grand larceny. City Police listed them as Clarence Palmer, Clarence Jefferson and Robert Charles White Jr.

Officers said they had connected the youths with burglaries of Pop Kola plant, Evening Shade Cafe, Norman Moore's place, Mack Brown's store; four counts of stealing from autos; two burglaries in Little Rock and a shoplifting count in Texarkana.

City Police were aided in the investigation by Arkansas State Police.

Famous Columbus Boychoir Coming to Hope

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

The Columbus Boychoir of Princeton, N. J., which will appear in Hope High School on Wednesday, March 9 at 8 p.m. under the auspices of the Friday Music Club and Hope Community Theater, Inc., offers an unusual and exciting opportunity for boys between the ages of 9 and 14.

Donald Bryant, Musical Director of the Boychoir, will be on stage immediately after the concert to hold auditions for boys interested in entering the Columbus Boychoir School in Princeton. The audition is brief, and it is designed as a simple test to discover potential or innate musical ability. Talented boys will be invited to apply for admission to the school, which provides a regular course of study in grades 4-9 in addition to musical training and concert experience.

Making the Concert Choir requires much more than just a beautiful voice. Just as important, a boy must be in good standing in his school work and have proved his citizenship over a sufficiently long period. Upon entering the School, a boy is told that no sissies or angels are expected or wanted, but that the concert tours necessitate adherence to a rigid schedule and require conduct suitable for living in hotels, eating in restaurants, and encountering many other situations not within the usual experience of a boy. He will therefore have to learn many things before he can be considered for touring.

The School affords the gifted boy an integrated program of education built around and motivated by an interest and talent in music possessed by all the students in common. The underlying conviction is that a special talent can be used to motivate academic achievement and the development of desirable character and personality traits.

Each year several hundred boys are heard to fill the 15 to 20 vacancies which occur in the Boychoir. Admission is usually by personal audition such as will be held after next Thursday's concert. Requirements for acceptance are musical aptitude, academic ability, and good character.

Not least among the benefits which come to the Boychoir students is the poise and natural ness they gain from their travel experiences & concert performances. Those who meet them back stage are usually impressed by their conversational ability and self-consciousness. It is also agreed that they are just fine, normal American boys. No greater tribute could be paid to the education philosophy and the leadership of the Boychoir School.

As for the choir's singing ability, it has been compared with the Vienna Boys Choir that is also famous world-wide. The Columbus Boychoir has recently completed a concert tour of Japan and last year it toured five European countries. We in Hope, are indeed, fortunate to be included in its current travels in the Southwestern United States. It will be in Texarkana next Thursday.

Those wishing to purchase tickets may do so from any member of the sponsoring organizations, the Friday Music Club and the Hope Community Theater, Inc., or the First National Bank, the Citizens National Bank, Roy Anderson Insurance Co., Dr. Lloyd Guerin's office, and in Washington at the Washington Hardware Co. The tickets are $1.50 each, but Richard Keyton, Hope High Music Director, will sell tickets to students at reduced rates, providing they purchase them before concert night. The public is urged to come out and support this truly outstanding cultural event.

Man Gets Hero's Welcome, Charged

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—A police charge and a hero's welcome greeted Abraham Nathan Tuesday night on his return from a futile one-man peace mission to the United Arab Republic.

The police charged him with leaving Israel illegally, then freed him on bail.

Girls heaped flower garlands on the 38-year-old restaurant owner as he was carried shoulder high into a downtown hotel. A welcoming party of 200 chanted: "Abie, Abie—long live Abie."

Nathan, a former fighter pilot, took off Monday hoping to present a peace petition to Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser. He said the petition was signed by 30,000 Israelis.

5% Luring Investors Out of Stock

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The "magic five per cent" is luring some investors out of stocks and into bonds or savings certificates at the banks. At least, that's one of the many reasons brokers are giving for the rush of selling of common stocks this week.

Investors can now get a bigger return on their money, whether five per cent or a bit less, from many other things than from most common stocks. Yield is the dividend payment as percentage of what you paid for the stock. Stock prices had risen so high that they were yielding an ever smaller return.

To some stockholders that may seem a good reason to sell stocks — particularly if they can still do so at a profit over what they paid for their holdings some time back.

Most stock traders are presumed to be more interested in buying in hopes of a rise in price — for a capital gain — than they are for income in the form of dividends. But even to some of these traders, the uncertainties that rocked the stock market last month may have seemed like a good time to get out for a while. So they put the money they got for their stock holdings into high yielding bonds and certificates to ride out the storm.

This can't be proved, of course. It can only be guessed. But some brokers are guessing that the drop in stock prices might not have been so steep nor the volume of trading so high, if the money market hadn't been offering ever increasing yields on investments since early December.

It was then that the Federal Reserve Board started the interest rate rise by upping the discount rate which it charges member banks for borrowing from the Federal Reserve banks.

Bond prices have dropped sharply. Today some U.S. Treasury Bonds can be bought at so low a price that their fixed interest rate payments yield the investor around 5 per cent.

Some municipal bonds now coming to the market have been priced to yield around 4 per cent. Since the interest on them is exempt from federal income taxes, they always pay less than corporate bonds and other forms of investment on which the income is taxable.

Corporate bond prices have fallen in line with the decline in Treasury bond prices. Yields above 5 per cent are available at today's prices.

Commercial banks are limited legally to 4 per cent for ordinary savings accounts which can be withdrawn at will. But several big New York banks are now paying 5 per cent for large deposits that cannot be withdrawn for a year or so.

Many mutual savings banks have raised their dividend payments. Savings and loan associations, which usually pay more than banks, are feeling the competition as savers are lured to the new magic 5 per cent, or to rates somewhat below that but still markedly higher than last November.

British Actor Some Improved

MONTREUX, Switzerland (AP)—After more than five weeks of treatment in a clinic in Lausanne, Switzerland, British playwright Noel Coward has returned to his villa in Montreux.

Coward, who suffered from amoebic dysentery, plans to take it easy for the next three weeks.

Cold Bath Man Dies at Age 95

LONDON (AP)—Sir Guy Dain, who took a cold bath every day until his final illness, has died at the age of 95.

Dain was chairman of the British Medical Association from 1943 to 1949 and a leading negotiator for the medical profession when the postwar Labor government set up the national health service.

He retired from practice in 1960. At the age of 91 he gave a lecture on "growing old happily" and said his day began this way:

Up at 6:30 a.m., a cold bath, 10 pushups, 10 knee bends, touch the toes 10 times, then an hour digging in the garden.

State Dept. Has Recovered Some Prestige

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—With a new order from President Johnson, the State Department appears to have recovered the power and prestige in running U.S. foreign policy that it began losing in the closing years of the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration.

The White House announced Friday that Johnson has directed Secretary of State Dean Rusk "to assume responsibility to the full extent permitted by law for the over-all direction, coordination and supervision of interdepartmental activities of the United States government overseas (less exempted military activities)."

Simply put, this means that hereafter State Department officials are to make the initial decisions on foreign policy moves, subject to the President's final decision, except in South Viet Nam.

This assignment of power radically changes the situation that developed early in the administration of President John F. Kennedy, who vested extensive practical authority in his own White House staff.

The process had begun earlier, however. Following the death of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in 1959, President Eisenhower decided to embark on a personal crusade for peace in the world. He also undertook personal direction of critical areas of U.S. foreign policy, leaving Secretary Christian A. Herter to serve as his adviser and administer the State Department.

Argument Can Mislead on U.S. Unity

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The past year, particularly the past two months, has been as dizzy and confused a time in American foreign affairs as any since the isolationism of the 1930s left the United States docile, unarmed and ill-prepared for the war that came.

Now the divided opinion on the Vietnamese war may well make the North Vietnamese Communists and the Viet Cong believe the American will to fight is splintered and that by continuing the war they may win what they want.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, Connecticut Democrat, calls the criticism of the Vietnamese war "the new isolationism." But the criticism is not so clear as that. There is a general unhappiness among the critics but no unity on a solution.

Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat, has denounced President Johnson's Viet Nam policy as "immoral and godless." He said Johnson has no constitutional right to send troops into it without a declaration of war. But there is not even a little sign Congress intends to declare war.

Morse called for arbitration of the war by the United Nations. Johnson made a bid to the United Nations for a negotiated settlement. But the U.N. Security Council shows little stomach for getting involved.

Last spring Sen. J. W. Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, Johnson's constant war critic, and chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called for a halt to the bombing of North Viet Nam as a way to induce the Communists into a negotiated settlement.

Starting late in December, and for 37 days, Johnson halted the bombings, sent peace emissaries around the world. The North Vietnamese ignored him and Johnson ordered the bombing resumed Jan. 31.

Later Fulbright called for a negotiated settlement with major concessions by both sides and this week he proposed a settlement by agreement with Red China for neutralization of all Southeast Asia.

But the United States has no regular diplomatic relations with the Chinese, has kept them out of the United Nations and it is hard to see how China even if it agreed not to invade its neighbors, could be kept from subverting them, which would have the same effect as invasion.

Pole Photographer Is Sentenced

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—A Warsaw magistrate has sentenced a Polish photographer to three months in jail for throwing three eggs at Marlene Dietrich.

The photographer, Marek Balcerzak, 35, pleaded guilty to misdemeanor charges Monday. He said he egged the actress-singer at a performance Sunday night because she owed him $332 for photographs he took of her during a visit in January 1964.

The eggs splattered near Miss Dietrich's feet.

Many Feared Dead in Plane Crash in Japan

TOKYO (AP)—A passenger airliner crashed on the side of snow-covered Mt. Fuji today and first reports indicated casualties were heavy.

Police nearing the crash site said they found torn clothing with the BOAC insignia on it. But the BOAC office in Tokyo said it had no report that one of its planes had crashed.

An Air Force source said the plane crashed near Taro-Bo, on the slopes of Mt. Fuji, about 70 miles south of Tokyo. The Air Force said the plane had taken off from Haneda Airport bound for Hong Kong.

A BOAC spokesman said a BOAC plane was in flight over Taiwan, far to the south of Japan.

A BOAC spokesman at Haneda Airport said the flight had left for Hong Kong at 1:30 p.m. — 12:30 a.m. EST.

Offshore Insurance Rates Increase

NEW ORLEANS, LA. (AP)—Insurance rates for offshore drilling and production equipment have risen sharply in recent years because of hurricanes.

A spokesman for Southern Marine & Aviation Underwriters Inc., said new rates in the London insurance market — traditionally handling most of the offshore equipment on the Louisiana and Texas coast — will more than double the old.

Nothing New in America's War Plan

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—There have been many changes in the names of ministers, organizations, programs and personnel over the past few years in Viet Nam — but basic approaches do not seem to have changed much.

Beyond the continuing military buildup and vastly increased aid spending, there is nothing basically new in America's approach to the war.

After the Honolulu conference between President Johnson and Vietnamese leaders, a spokesman asked U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge: "Was there anything that we weren't doing that we were missing that required this new emphasis?"

Lodge replied: "We were doing everything but most people didn't know that we were doing it."

Lodge's answer implied to many observers that the main reason for the Honolulu conference was public relations — keeping the American people informed about the war.

Honolulu did throw the spotlight on a new Vietnamese ministry, the "department of revolutionary development" headed by an energetic army officer, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Duc Thang.

The basic goal of the ministry is to make Viet Nam safe for democracy.

In 1961, the comparable ministry under President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime was called the ministry of civic action. It was headed by Ngo Trong Hieu, who has been in jail since the Nov. 1, 1963, military coup.

The real boss of the ministry's operations was Diem's brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu. Nhu and the Americans hit on an ambitious and sweeping program called the strategic hamlets plan, aimed at grouping virtually all of Viet Nam's farmers in rigidly controlled government hamlets.

Fulbright Sees Quick Okay for Aid Bill

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., may be in the mood to keep jousting with the State Department over foreign aid for Viet Nam — but he doesn't think his Senate Foreign Relations Committee is.

The way he senses "the mood of the committee," the $415-million authorization — mostly for Southeast Asia — will be approved by the committee Monday "just about as it was when it was submitted" by President Johnson—without any policy riders.

Two moves to put Congress on record as opposing the widening of the war in South Viet Nam ran into heavy opposition at a closed meeting Friday. Fulbright told reporters afterward that the mood of the committee made it appear unlikely either would be adopted.

The committee defeated moves to cut the $100 million in presidential contingency funds in the measure.

Administration critics led by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, did succeed in getting the committee to include in its report its intention to subtract from next fiscal year's foreign aid bill at least the $275 million included in the supplemental measure for direct South Viet Nam aid.

The committee asked Secretary of State Dean Rusk to draft his views on the two policy riders—one by Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., on them for Monday.

Ghana Has a Political Pendulum

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—The political pendulum has begun a swift swing to the right in Ghana after years on the far left under Kwame Nkrumah.

Diplomatic sources in Accra say they do not expect the new military government to break completely with Moscow and Peking, however. Lt. Gen. J. A. Ankrah, the head of the new military regime, said on Monday that Ghana would return to a true nonaligned policy.

"As you all know, mere lip service was paid to this policy of nonalignment by the now-deposed tyrant and dictator," Ankrah said in a nationwide broadcast.

The new government ordered Soviet and Red Chinese technicians and advisers—estimated to number about 1,200—out of the country. Hundreds leave daily.

At least 11 Soviets were among the estimated 30 persons killed in the revolution that overthrew Nkrumah last week. Most were security advisers who helped train the elite presidential guard.

Two high officials under Nkrumah went to the Soviet Embassy following the coup. Police later seized them, and the embassy declined to comment on the matter.

Ankrah was angry with the Soviet government Aeroflot Airline for flying Nkrumah from Peking to Moscow and canceled Aeroflot's landing rights in Accra.

Nkrumah before he was overthrown denied Western charges that he was allied with the Communist bloc. Ghana, he claimed, was a nonaligned socialist state following the precepts of "Nkrumahism."

Despite this, Nkrumah's steady criticism of "colonialism, neocolonialism and imperialism" was a sweeping attack on almost all Western institutions.

America's foreign policy, economic practices, educational system and cultural life were described in the blackest possible terms by the government-controlled press and radio.

Ghana's 7.3 million people probably received more U.S. aid per capita than those of any other African state, many of which were pro-Western. Some African governments were puzzled and irritated by this.

The Soviet Union and Red China also poured much aid in. However, it was almost all in the form of technical assistance and barter deals, with Ghanaian cocoa being exchanged for East bloc machinery, processed foods and consumer goods.
